FatPipe's Bhaskar in Utah's state-board

01 December 2004

Dr. Bhaskar, President, CEO and Founder of FatPipe Networks, was appointed by Governor-Elect Jon Huntsman to Co-Chair the Review Committee of Utah State's Boards and Commissions.

Originally from Chennai, India, Dr. Bhaskar came to the United States in 1981 to continue his education. Dr. Bhaskar obtained a Ph.D. degree in Engineering, a dual MS in Engineering and Operations Research, and an MS in Business Administration from Pennsylvania State University. Prior to co-founding FatPipe, he enjoyed a career in academia first as a research technologist of engineering at Pennsylvania State University and later as an associate professor of engineering at the University of Utah.

Fatpipe was recently rated as #189 company in Inc 500 and it is also the sixth fastest growing company. Beginning in 1994 through 2003, FatPipe Networks received a total of $13 million in venture capital funding in three rounds.